

Teaching through Example and Minigolf

One day, a man took his 2 sons out for a game of mini-golf. Once they arrived at the golf course, the man went up to the clerk and asked him how much it cost for a game. The clerk said it was $3.00 for kids 5-11, $5.00 for 12 years old & up, and kids 4 & under were free.

The man said, "Well Max is 3 and James is 5, so I guess I owe you $8.00." He handed the clerk the money, and the clerk responded, "What are you, rich? You could have told me that your older boy was 4 and got him in for free. I wouldn't have known the difference."

The man looked at him and said, "No. But he would have known the difference. And I want to teach my boys integrity."
